Dear Valued Member,

One year ago several of us attended a scheduled office call at the Department of Military Science, NC State University. We met with MAJ Roger De Leon, Assistant Professor of Military Science. The Professor of Military Science (PMS) was on leave and unavailable, so we took the opportunity to sit around the conference table in his office with MAJ De Leon to discuss our fraternity, the PRs of L-4.

The army ROTC department remains, after all these years, in the same corner of the William Neal Reynolds Coliseum. The PMS's office was about the same as I remember it from my days there back in the late '60s and early '70s. The office walls were still a light green with tile flooring. It was a surreal feeling to be there again. The rest of the ROTC area had been renovated. I looked but did not see any classrooms along the hall corridor.

We talked about the activities of the PRs on campus before the company went inactive. Though a first for me, discussing L-4's presence on campus was not a new experience. Several members of the association had visited before this meeting, but nothing had materialized until Teshawn Lee arrived on the scene. Since that meeting with MAJ De Leon last year, L-4 has been reactivated much to the credit of Cadet Lee.

Now L-4AA eagerly awaits its first new alumni member in well over a decade. L-4's Cadet Lee is on track to graduate at the end of the fall semester. Soon, other L-4 PRs are certain to follow.

Fraternally,

Joe Harris
